Acquisition from Eden Bioscience completed

Plant Health Care plc ('Plant Health Care' or 'the Group'), one of the leading providers of natural products to the agriculture and landscaping industries, announces that it has today completed the acquisition of the majority of assets of NASDAQ listed, Eden Bioscience Corporation ('Eden'), announced on 4 December 2006. Completion follows the approval of the sale by Eden's shareholders on 26 February 2007 and all closing conditions have been satisfied accordingly.

John Brady, CEO of Plant Health Care said: 'We are very pleased that this acquisition is now completed. It is an important milestone in the progress of our strategy to build a significant agricultural division extending throughout the US, into Mexico and across Europe.'

'The level of interest in the Harpin technology we are seeing makes us increasingly confident that this will prove to be an important acquisition and could significantly enhance Plant Health Care's business.'
